Dearest Mamma,

I returned so good to get your letter last night. Yesterday noon Eliza asked me if I didn't want to go to walk it was so lovely. We started not knowing where we were going and came to Needham. It's a poky little place and we turned around and came back. When I came in I was hungry and rather weary and I didn't hope I'd have a letter, there wasn't any in the box and I was going to be disappointed until Sarah called down, that she'd brought my mail upstairs. I came up and found your letter and it was real interesting and cheering.

In the evening I went to a sort of concert given by the German Club. A man sang German songs, he had a fine voice and I enjoyed it very much. I got home about half past eight. Everyone was feeling sort of blue so I thought it would be a good time to have my spread. Camilla came over, the three girls, down stairs came up and Sarah and I were here so there were just six of us and there was a plate for each. Evelyn brought up her electric iron and turned it upside down on a little stand for Doris to make judge on. Camilla and Dorothy brought some candy and Evelyn had some salad dressing so we had a regular feast. We had shrimps, a bottle of olives (the one you brought to me) crackers, jelly, peanuts and candy. We had lots of fun. I used my new plates everyone thought they were real pretty and they thought they'd never tasted anything so good as the jelly.

Evelyn has asked me to go with her next Saturday afternoon to the theatre in Boston. Wasn't she good? I think she was lovely. Julia Kerr asked me up to College Hall to supper to-night but I told her I didn't think I'd better ask Mrs. Stone again Chambers asked her if she couldn't go and she's been off lots more than I have. Julia said she'd ask me again some time a week ahead, so I'm going next time. I'd like to see what it's like up there.

You know the girl Mrs.
Childsey told me about? I saw her the other day, she knows Ralph Hudson too. I like her real well and it's nice to meet people who know people I know.

At this point I went to walk with all the girls here and Camilla, it made me think of the Sunday I went out with Helen, maybe it will happen again some day.

Everyone thinks my Christmas presents are lovely, and the pillow you made me is very much admired.

This A. M. in church Bishop Lawrence spoke he was real good but I got kind of tired of getting up & down. Your very loving little girl

If you happen

might mention that I'm up here & like
